

an experience we ~~shared~~ shared yesterday

Permission Denied

You do not have permission to view this page.

---

a small section of streaming chat from “Occupy” in Liberty Plaza as transcribed by the software Dragons Speaking Naturally

“Then yesterday there was great hope. Said moral jay rabbit—occupation. Lonely doughnut asks if goldfish has quit. I got dropped? I will eat the network. Every body is getting kicked. Making free grilled cheeses for a summer home in Canada as a form of solidarity rights writes nebula net book. The problem with administration is it has trouble with what a cloned sheep describes as barter. Do you happen to have any gluten-free bread? Bush and Obama don't seem very different. Mean the filtered lights meme filter. A trumpeted change in blue suits. Still bombing the world still torturing, still bailing out corporations. Change MPD to ponzi-fluff and buy a movement. Global banks does and doesn't incorporate socialism. So I am blue on you, corporate government. And who is behind it for you? Can the conspiracy wacko ahead get back to backing profitable war please? Pauline's neck is just too profitable. One wicked man put it on the list of grievances. Grievances are overvalued, i.e. exhibits a desire to be helpful if some progress can be made. Congress has been bought off by defendants? Media has a short memory. He relent and he semi-are not helping. I have seen many videos out of control in the crowd. A great movement, with so many haters. Participant observation sucks big time. Darkness makes more sense. Lonely doughnut writes about filthy snivelling thievery. I respect the worst kind of every human being. Babies are starting as we speak. Rules control the room. Good morning, everyone. Obama is business as usual as a trawl. It's part of the problem. Is unrighteous. Paying fealty to the law that would really make a difference. The Lord who racked up national debt. Every single one knows better than everyone else. If they can't get away with killing you for your stuff, they will settle for swindling you. Just another blabbermouth pose, a talking about bull shipped? This movement has to be radically inclusive and I guess that means for every “one.” The 1% count on us to fall apart over petty differences. We are all speaking English more or less. Trolls are the bane of chat. Adam writes that everything should be free except that which we don't need. Look at the map, find a place to meet, and print your own money. Can we stop arguing about which location is the most central google?”

October 6th 2011

Error while constructing Context of Results

Your search expression is too complex

absorber

